Another Great Overflow .- The Vincennes Sun says that the Wabash river contmenced rising on Wednesday night, and on Friday was within eighteen inches of the highest point ever known there, completely flooding the bottom lands in Illinois and those above and below on the Indiana side. The river at Terre Hau'e, Logansport, Lafayette, and other points above was higher than ever known before, and the damage is reported as heavy. The water commenced receding at Vincennes on Saturday, and, up to yesterday, had fallen one foot and a half.

RELIEF FOR THE ANGEASON TROOP .- A meeting was held at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, in Philadelphia, on Sunday evening, to devise means for the relicf of the Antlerson Troop, who fought so galand duted December 9, 1862, 9th Infantry Reglantly and suffered so severely at Murfrees-boro. THE PURSUIT OF MORGAN - HIS DEPREDA

LEBANON, KY., Jan. 3, 1863. As yet we do not know anything concerning the pursuit of "Cousin John" by Colonel Hoskins. The last official intelligence we had the enemy, there being but three bours' dis hight more valiably than his. His cavalry is particularly effective and daring. The 6th Kentucky Cavalry, under Majors Gratz and Fidler, are eager to avenge the death of their noble commander, who so daringly and impetuously met his death. His "grievons, ghastly, gaping wounds," call aloud to them to remember his courageons bearing, his noble soldierly deportment, his purity of heart, and excessive kindness, and "Halisy" will hereafter be their buttle-ery. His name alone will emies. The 9th Keotucky Cavalry, commanded now by Lieut. Col. Boyle, u glorious sol-

All of the prisoners, with a few exceptions, are renegade Kentuck-lans. Col. Il. also has incarcerated several citizens, who were kind enough to pilot John neral a thing for men to be protected while they plot treason. A deserter from Morgan, now here, a very sensible young fellow.

Morgan literally stripped the country of horses. His men committed all manner of depredations, stealing and plundering wherever they went. When he took horses from robels he left broken down ones. Col. lloge-land desires to relieve them of the necessity of feeding the horses. He has therefore sent

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

RESSELLVILLE, Dec. 30, 1862.

GENTLEMEN: I suppose yon would like to know how we are prospering since Colonel Bruce has left. We have a commander bere now equally as good as Colonel Bruce. Maj. Mattingly, of the 26th Kentneky volunteers, is in command, and a better one cannot be found. He is a true-hearted patriot. He has pully a few men, under his command at present Kentucky's truest. The brave old 20th Ken-tucky has won laurels. She covered herself with glory on the bloody field of Shiloh. Well may the gallant Major be proud of his ittle command! He has learned to know that it will stand by him. Let me sugget and all of the regiment are not here—only ruc, and will stand by their men until the truc, and will stand by their men until the last.

The Major, assisted by Sergeant-Major J.W. Linton, does extremely well. He has had built a stockade. Yesterday and to-day he had upwards of niuety negroes at work on it, and I am glad to say that it is now complete. We are confident that the little force under him can boild it against nearly any force Morgan can bring. Lieut. Sam D. Brown is Provest Marshal, and fills his place with a great deal of judgment. Ho is kept busy. Even the adies of Russellville like bin; and you know if they like him he is a worthy officer. Yesterday a hally called at his office for a pass. He wrote it for her, and, when done, asked her to sign the oath. Whereupon she flew in a rage and replied, "I will do no such thing; I have never taken an oath to support Lincoln and his abolition cabinet, and never will." Lieut. Brown'simply said, "Madam, you can't get a pass," and left. Such things occur every day. All the boys are in high spirits and fat as can be; and why not? Here is John Jackson, Post Quartermaster, gives them as much son, Post Quartermaster, gives them as much bacon and erackers, beans, &c., as they want Who wouldn't have such a Quartermaster?

Jolly soul, and as brave as any other man is Capt. Jno. Jackson. If any one asks you how the old 26th Kentucky is, tell them it is all right.

He was born and reared in Woodford county, dial and hearty welcome of numerous friends, little dreaming it was the last time his presence should greet them on earth. But, alas, how uncertain is the soldier's life--he has fallen, with many of his noble and heroic comrudes, principles of national government inaugurated by our futhers—the perpetuity of the Luion and the Constitution—and against this most iniquitous rebellion. His country has ost a brave soldier, his amiable wife and three nteresting children a devoted husband and father, and an aged mother a kind and dutlful distress of this bereaved household. The Saltilloville, Jan. 5, 1863.

Looking over your paper of last week I discovered a mistake which should be rectified. You gave Col. Canhy the credit of the brilliant victory won at Dumfries. Col. Chas. Candy has the entire command at Dumfries of three regiments and 1,800 cavalry. So you will see you were mistaken in the officer and also in the numbers. Chas. Candy is Colonel of the 66th Ohio, and it is known that their bravery saved the army in a previous battle. bravery saved the army in a previous battle.

My information on the subject is correct, having received it in private letters from his family.

Yours respectfully, R.W.W. The Iron Navies of France and Eng-Land.—Mr. Douald McKay, a well known shipbuilder of Boston, has been engaged for some months past in visiting the European Navy Yards, and he contributes the results of Navy Yards, and he contributes the results of his observations to the Boston Commercial Bulletin. The information which he gives concerning the iron vessels of the French and English navies is interesting and valuable. Writing from Paris, Mr. McKay describes the progress of the iron-clao war vessels of the two nations, and shows what are the advantages of France over England. In addition to leu iron-cased floating batteries, constructed during and shortly after the Crimean war, France has also constructed four iron frigates of the Gloire class (the Gloire, Normandie, Invincible and Couronne), two floatfrigates of the Gloire class (the Gloire, Normandie, Invincible and Couronne), two floating batteries (the Peiho and Saigon), and two iron rams (Solferino and Magenta); and has on the stocks nine more floating batteries and ten iron frigates. It is in contemplation to finish all these vessels in five years, but in case of necessity they could be completed in one year. The English havo completed anly four iron-cased frigates (the Warrior, Back Prince, Defence, and Resistance), but are building the Achilles, Ilector, Valiant, Agincourt, Minotaur, Northumberland, Prince Albert—all iron ships—and the wooden ships Prince Consort, Ocean, Caledonia, Royal Oak, and Royal Alfred—all of which are now easing with iron.

"The Freuch can bave by the end of next year a fleet of sixteen irou-cased frigates fit for foreign service, and the English can mus-ter in a year and a half sixteen irou-cased frigates and two iron-cased corvettes, all fit for foreign service and for an aggressive war-

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1863.

Len Our readers will have noticed the repor from Paris, published yesterday in our telegraphic columns, that the French Minister of reiga Affairs had tendered his resignation to the Emperor, for the reason that the public voice of France demanded a change of tho foreign policy to which the Minister is comoth r things "the joining in a noto to be signel also by England and Russia to ed nearly two years without snecess, the interests of humanity and civilization required them to lay down their arms.'

the Confederate authorities, on the ground that, as the rebellion had now contin-The report comes in a letter from what the New York Tribune affirms to be "a well-in-Formed source at Paris." "The writer adds," according to the despatch, "that after opposng these propositions the Emperor, upon further consideration, took a more favorable view of the policy indicated. The writer asserts in the strongest manner that, notwithstanding the nuexpected and surprising character of this information, it is strictly true.' If true, it is important. If it isn't true, it ought to be, and, with a few more victorie like those just achieved by Rosecruns and Sherman, it will be. If it isn't the shadow of a coming event, it is at least the rustle of one. Por If the record of the war thus far ou our ide is not as bright as it might have been. nad as it would have been if the men in authority had possessed greater abilities with loftier patriotism, it is nevertheless a record of which, under the circumstances, we need not be ashained. Indeed, it appears to us to be nuder the circumstances, a very creditable record. With as good a civil record the war night have been at an end. Uur little army of some 18,000 men, as an intelligent contemporary says, has expanded to a well-organized and splendidly appointed force of nearly 800,000, soon to number a million. Our navy from 42 vessels in commission and 76 all told, with 1,783 guns, has grown to a force, afloat or near completion, of 427 vessels of war, carrying 3,268 guns. No nation has ever had so ast a military and naval armament, viewed in its special adaptation to our national purposes, and including powerful elements both of attack and defence unknown to earlier war fare. The vast sums uccessary to raise, organize, equip, and maintain this immense force have been raised without borrowing a dollar from foreign nations. Nor are the actual achievements of the war wholly unworthy o these gigantie preparations. Nearly three thou and miles of sea coast, from Norfolk to Nev Orleans and Galveston, all belonging to the jusurgent region at the opening of the war have been reclaimed to the Union, and we tow hold them fast under the guns of our na vy, or else garrisoued and governed by our tilitary force. The Mississippi, the main artery of the great central valley of the Union with its principal tributaries, embracing man housands of miles of ialand navigation, once in the possession of the rebels from Cairo to Orleaus, has been restored to national control New Orleans, by far the most opulent and important commercial city of the rebellion, with Vicksburg, Memphis, Nashville, Norfolk, and numerous cities of inferior rank, have been recovered to the Union. And foreign nations whatever secret enmity they may indulge have been compelled to observe a guarded and respectful touc by the development of a powcr which has astonished them as it has our-

Meanwhile, not a city or a river can the reb Pls point to as a conquest of the war. Not a fortress is now in their possession which was not seized when disarmed or inadequately deearled in the first surprise of the rebellion aids, and surprises, and burning unarmed merchant ships, they have had some success But such transieat and unfruitful advaatages are far from establishing their claim to be nation, and present a marked contrast to the steady, though slow, advanced and permanen ccupation of the Union forces.

We have sustained, it is true, a few ries of unbroken successes. As an offset we have had Mill Spring, Fort Donelson, New Madrid, Pea Ridge, Shiloh, Iuka, Corinth Boston Mouattiu, Antietam, Murfreesboro and Vieksburg; hul, as a completer offset, the irrepressible valor of our troops, who are mor determined and effective now than ever be fore. Great military abilities cannot be im provised. They are the work of time. They spring gradually from the exigencies of cir cumstances. Europe for centuries has been eagiged ia war, and you may number the name of its really great generals on the fiager and How many has England had besides Wel lington; how many France hesides Bonaparte how many Italy, Austria, Russia? What, in deed, has been the history of all comprehen sive campaigns, of all vast movements armies, but a history of blunders, errors, and disasters. "He never made war," says Tureane, "who aever made mistakes;" and that a young and peaceful nation like ours should have made great mistakes is to say only tha it has made a great war.

In spite, therefore, of errors and failures of errors in plans and of failures in execution -we believe that the martial record of th last twenty-two moaths will compare gloriously with that of any other natioa, ancient or modern, beginning nader the same embarrassments, and conducted by a similar inexperience. Would to God that record had been still brighter and better! Yet we repeat, with as good a civil record during the same period, the war might have been ended With a civil record altogether free from the taint of faction and of fanatieism, our military record would have been unspotted. It is to be hoped that these things ere long will be order ed differently. Meanwhile, the military record of the past, unsatisfactory as it is in many respects, neither excites humiliation nor en courages despair. It rather excites pride and encourages hope.

The despatches of yesterday evening contain the President's reasons for signing the bill admitting Western Virginia into the Union. Look at them! Bad as the measur is, the reasons for it are worse. Mr. Lincoln eems to have lost even a decent respect for appearances. Courage patriots! Hereafter it vill be the crowning glory of our country that she survived not merely the assault o this rebellion but the support of this Admin istration and of another just as had. A glory naequalled and unique awaits us. God grant that it will not have to wait for us long.

Now, as it is exceedingly doubtful whether the British nation or any other nation ever elerated "a rule of construction" to the dignity of a principle," or whether it could if it waat d to, and particularly as it is certain that the entence in question is not the "motto" of the national arms" of Great Britain but merely f the Order of the Garter, that Mr. Stuar onew this although Mr. Seward evidently lidn't kaow it, and that Mr. Stuart kept dark ud left Mr. Seward in the dark long enough t least to aflow him to incorporate his blunde nto an official note, we need hardly say tha he joke, whatever it may be and wherever i may be, is very clearly not ou our side, though Mr. Seward unquestionably intended that i should be. We learn by letter from Lebanon that E. Huddleton, formerly of Colonel Wolford's cavalry, was surprised at his home on the night of the 1st inst, by the notorious Champ Ferguson und his band and killed. The gallant Captain had no other means of defence than his trusty rifle, and, when called upon to surrender, determined to sell his life dearly. He neeordingly seized his gun, and went up stairs, with the determination of fighting to the last Volley after volley was fired at the house, and he was finally shot and mortally wounded. Subsequently Champ Ferguson ordered the body to be brought out by Capt. Il.'s brotherin-law, after which the miserennt Ferguson ffired three balls into the lifeless form of on when he had never dared to face in open POSTAL.-We learn from Mr. E. S. Tuley the head of that department in the city Post office, that the whole number of letters handled-that is to say, distributed-in the Louisville office during the week ending Decembhr 31st was a fraction over two million. Of this number five hundred and fifty thousand were mailed originally at the Louisville office This enumeration is entirely independent of the mail matter handled in the delivery de partment, and is by far the largest number o original letters ever mailed in the city postoffice in a single quarter. Postmaster Speed has been fortunate in the selection of faithful and skillful clerks, by whom this hereulea labor has been performed.

THE DISCHARGE OF CAPT. WOLFE,- The death of private Frederick Dungass, of the Forty-seventh Ohio Infantw, at the hands of Capt. Wm. A. Wolfe, of the Fourth Kentucky Cavalry, at the corner of Fifteenth and Mar ket streets, on Saturday evening last, has already been announced. Capt. Wolfe was arrested on Monday evening, and had an examiaation before Judge Johnston, of the City Court, yesterday morning, which resulted in This discharge. We are informed that Capt Weife was subsequently arrested by the military anthorities.

Police Proceedings - Wednesday, Jan. 7 John Snieker, drunk and disorderly conduct. Continued until to-morrow morning. Arthur Morris, charged with killing Mr. Gibson. Continued until Friday morning,

A Good Example. - We learn by letter from Nashville that Gen. Rosecrans has issued an order to the effect that "the resignation of Second Lieutenant Clark, of the Seventeenth Indiana Volunteers, having been twice tendered when the regiment was on the eve o marehing in the face of the enemy, is accepted for the henefit of the service. The sum of $90 is stopped against his pay by sentence of a covet-martial for absence without leave."

EASTERN EXCHANGE. - Eastern exchange seems to have become a drug in the market, as sales could not be made to the hankers yesterday even at one-half per cent discount. A catizen who had a draft upon New York for a few thousand dollars, the sale of which he wished to negotiate, was forced to submit to a dashing Colonel of the 15th Indiana, who hroke his sword off over a rehel's head at the battle of Rich Mountain, in Western Virshave of one-half per cent from a private

Not witstanding the assurances heretofore received to the effect that Captain J. M. [Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.] THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST. Columbus, Kv., Jan. 3, 1863. I have just had a very interesting conversation with one of the most intelligent gentlemen I have as yet met with in regard to the operations of the enemy and our own forces or the last two weeks in the vicinity of Jack-on and northward. Forrest's object, or rather "orders," was "to destroy Jackson, bisect the railroad, and step supplies for Gen. Grant's urmy." Being foiled in this by Gen. Dodge's sudden llank movements, he posted off northward and detroyed the road as reported in former letters. Sullivan's scouts reported to Gen. Dodge the memy crossing at Clifton Ford with 4,000 eaving direct to Jackson

2d ultimo General Dodge sent out cavalry flanking force of 400 men. This orce pushed off southward, going as far as kolona, on the Mobile and Ohio Railpad, within six miles of Tupelo, where rice and his forces lay nearly all summer. t Okolona this cavalry force captured two hundred prisoners, burned two important cailroad bridges and 8,000 bushels of corn in lepot. They also burued all the public buildings in the town, and so seared the enemy hat in his flight he destroyed all the bridges between Okolona and Tupelo. All this time General Dodge was at or near All this time General Dodge was at or near fuscumbia with a force of 4,000 men. After lriving the nrmy from Thisenmbia (which blace was held by Gen. Ripley, one of Bragg's Brigadier-Generals), and capturing eighty prispuers, Dodge turns up on the railroad only hirteen miles below Jackson the night before

In the meantime General Sullivan, with a force of 400 cavalry, 200 infantry, and two pieces of artillery, marches out about two and a half miles from Jackson, and the next morning at daybreak engages the enemy. After lighting till about noon the enemy leit, leaving forty killed. Their wounded they ook along with them.

After this repulse, failing to "destroy Jack-

On the 27th ultimo General Sullivan, with four Illinois, three Indiana, and two loware regiments, started in pursuit, and on the 29th he was in position at Spring IIII (the name of the battle ground), while General Illinois was somewhat known in the Southern States previous to the war, and it appears an agent pushing him down from Union City and Trenton. Forced from the line of the railroad they made for the river, expecting to cross at Clifton Ford. Gen. Hancy started from Trenton just as the enemy left Union City, and kept constantly on his flank.

ust as the enemy left Union City, and kept constantly on his flank.

On the morning of the 31st, about 6 o'cl.ck, they came upou Sullivan and his troops in position at Spring Hill. The fight commenced immediately, and lasted till between 12 and 1 o'clock, when the enemy, Forrest's and Cheatham's forces combined, left the field in 'precipitate dieth.' Our loss in this engagement does not exceed 20 killed and wounded, while the enemy lost 00 killed and wounded, 360 prisoners, and 5 icces of artillery. General Sullivan's despatch, forwarded by courier to Jackson and thence by lightning to Ben, Grant on New Year's day, read.

"BATTLE-FIELD, BETWEEN 12 AND I O'CL'K. To General U. S. Grant: "Have whipped Cheatham and Forrest hand-somely. They are all cut to pieces. Have 360 prisoners and four pieces of artillery. (Signed) "JERRY C. SULLIVAN,

"Brig.-Gen. Commanding After the battle, Col. Lawler, of the 18th llinois, with four pieces of artillery, was sent to Clifton Ford to prevent the enemy erossing at that ford—the only ford on the river, and the only crossing for sixty miles below. There are at this time eight gunboats plying up and down the river, and it is the general impression of military men at Jackson that the enemy will be taken, as they cannot cross the On the first approach of the enemy off Jack-

Yours, &c., SEE. SEE. ESS. THE LATE TRAGEOY IN NEW JERSEY .- Benamin Turner and his wife had occasion to go from home on Brigantine Beach, a few days ago (last week), and left the house in charg son and daughter, aged respectively aho venteen and twenty years, and with them, so, a little girl about four years of age, nam-Smith. Early on New Year's evening the murderer, a young man by the name of Gan-dy, twenty years of uge, who lived about a mile from Turner's house, started out in the tensible purpose of watching the setting of the game in the hay for the night. It appears that after putting out the decoys, he returned ashore and proceeded to the house of Turner, with the intention of robbing it, knowing that there was some $500 in gold and silve left there. Being intimate with the family, h

They soon recognized the voice of young Gandy, the neighbor and suposed friend. The woman told her brother to o down and let him in, which he proceeded o do, when, as he opened the door, he was uddenly struck by Gandy with an axe on the lead, inflicting a horrible wound. The young woman again grapples of the him, and actually succeeded in wresting the gun from his hands, and threw it out o he window. She then tried to make her esape, but when in the act of climbing out of the window she was again met by Gandy, who had gone around and climbed up the porch to head her off. He had the gun in his hands once more, and he took deliberute aim at her head and fired, but nt that instant she threw a chair down upon him. The shot, how-ever, struck the poor girl in the arm, causing a frightful wound. She then escaped through the back door, made her way to the neares eighbor's, and gave the alarm

The supposition is that when she was away the inhuman wretch shot young Turner as he lay in bed writhing in agouy from the blows of the axe. He then set fire to the house, and it soon lay a heap of ashes, with the hones of the murdered boy and the little girl Smith, who perished in the flames. On Friday morning he was found in the hny, laying in his skiff, with half his head blown from his hody, and he gun hy his side discharged. The father of audy is a respectable man, and has one sou erving in the army.

Of all this have I spoken. The heart history of such a conflict, purchased by the life and blood of twenty thousand men, must be found in the hospitals. War has its glories-but it has its ten thousand demons in these human tortures that make the eye-halls ache-the heart bleed-the lips palsy, and the rain reel. The sight is at first positively unendurable. The life-blood of some is trickower than in New York. But ye mothers who here seek a sonwives a husband-or sisters a brother-or sons a futher-know and be consoled that even here the hand of mercy is watchful, and better care is bestowed upon your loved ones than might at first seem possible. It was in the hospital, where rested the gallant Hooker "S. T .- 1860-X." Anything alleviating the sufferings and saving the lives of our soldiers, tonishing results from this article. It is well known the effect of burnt gnnpowder and excitement is thirst, which, added to the loss of blood in the wounded, erente the necessity of a reviving stimulant. In this particular hospital, the physicians were allowing their patients to drink Plantation Bitters otherwise called S. T .- 1860-X, and although the wounded are most numerous here-this livision having opened the fight at 5 in the morning-the men were mostly composed and there was very little fainting. DEAR Sin: In reply to your communication flering us "Fifty thousand dollars for the ceipe and right to make the Pluntation Bit eers for your hospital purposes during the war," we beg to say, your price is n libera one, considering it would cost us nothing to comply, and that otherwise we can derive n enue from the Southern States; but, si onsistency would not allow us to enter tain it, although it might please us to assuage the sufferings of your misguided followers.

Very respectfully, yours, P. H. DRAKE & CO. These gentlemen give the history of certain agredients of their article for over two hundred years-showing that through all changes of the medical profession and its practitioners strength, composure, and eheerfulness have been derived from these sources. Dr. Woods in the Washington hospitals informed me that one patient was fast sinking and crazy, and had not slept an hour for two weeks, until the Plantation Bitters came to his knowledge, and he was now fast recovering. I am sur orised our Government has not equalled Jeferson Davis in energy, and adopted this inraluable article in all our hospitals. The weak soldiers cling to it like a brother. As a lay member, I can bear witness it is "good to take," and affords more energy and life than anything I ever tried. Success to the Plantation Bitters.

But I have digressed. In my next I shall speak of gathering in the wounded, burying d29 deod2m,beod2m&w1

Notices of the Day.

It will be interesting to our lady friends o read the following extract of a letter from New York lady, in this city, to the Home 'It is interesting to one travelling from the detropolis to the West to notice the progress if styles and fashions. I see here many styles if dress that have passed away with us some ch and glossy mink that is so very fashiona-le in all the Eastern cities, and has been for the last two seasons, is just being introduced. I see many ladies, otherwise richly dressed, wearing flich, murten, and other old-time furs. This is not so much attributable to a want of enterprise in the merchants as to the besitation of the ladies about adopting new styles. Whilst shopping with a friend, I called at one house, that of Messrs. Green & Green, that seemed fully up to the times in this respect Their stock of mink collars, Eugenias, half capes, and other styles, will compare favorably with our Broadway honses, and I think that such goods are sold here at prices even Those who hold that there is no sauctity in the Coustitution, must equally hold that there is no guilt in the rebellion. The President has already signed an act of Congress which asserts that the slaves of those in rebellion are confiscated. The sole effect of this proclumation, therefore, is to declare the emaccipation of slaves of those who are not in rebellion, and who are, therefore, loyal citizens. It is an extraordinary deduction from the alleged war power, that the forfeiture of the right of loyal o have been made by direction of the church covernment, is understood to have been the easis of this order. Where the head of the tate is also head of the Church, an omis like that referred to would be in contrave nent does not here assume that power, at The order is, therefore, provisionally reseind ed, and the churches will be opened, as here tofore, on and after Christmas day. This de cision is based upon the negative character of the offence charged. The commanding General desires it to be nderstood, however, that clergymen are suh ject to the restrictions imposed upon all other men. They well know the extent of the privileges.
